

Timothy F. Nixon

Timothy F. Nixon is a commercial lawyer representing clients in state and federal courts. He is a senior attorney in business finance and restructuring. His name appears on numerous “best lawyers” lists both state and national. He is a frequent lecturer, presenter, and writer on matters involving Bankruptcy Law and serves on the Board of Directors of the American College of Bankruptcy. Tim has represented clients in cases before the United States Supreme Court and the Courts of Appeal, as well as in bankruptcy courts across the nation, including some of the largest actions filed in the United States. He was counsel to the fee examiner in the General Motors bankruptcy and his team was counsel to the fee committee in the Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc. bankruptcy, Energy Futures, and currently Puerto Rico. In 2009 the Wisconsin Supreme Court appointed him to the Preliminary Review Committee, and subsequently to the Board of Administrative Oversight, for the Office of Lawyer Regulation.

Tim holds a bachelor’s degree in Public and Environmental Administration from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. He went on to earn a law degree and a master’s in public policy and administration at UW-Madison. Prior to graduate school, Tim served as a ship’s officer in the Merchant Marine for nine years.

For twenty-two years he has also volunteered his time as an associate faculty member in Public and Environmental Affairs at UW-Green Bay, teaching Administrative Law.
